The principal speaker of the evening was Dr. George H. Cohen of Yale that the country was full of trees of little streams from drying up. Later when the Jews were expelled from Palestine the invaders cut down the trees, and thus the sun's hot ray dried up the streams, making the cl mate unusually hot and converting the land into a desert. On account of this the slightest breeze fills the eyes of the inhabitants of Jerusalem with dry sand, and this preduces eye diseases of various kinds. The hot climate also helps to increase the number of epidemics, because of the congested conditions in Jerusalem, and also because of the ignorance of the principles of hygiene on the part of the lahabitants these diseases increase. It is to rem-edy these conditions that the Hedassah has undertaken to send nurses and physicians to Palestine. These treat all the inhabitants without dis-

During the various meetings, which were held monthly at the home of Mrs. Charles M. Gordon, articles from the Maccabean, Minorah Journal, and the Young Judean were read, to the delight of the Hedassah members. Local speakers were also heard at some of the meetings. The Sewing circle was started May 10, 1916.
